INTRODUCTION

The High School Equivalency Program (HEP) and the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) are designed to help migrant and seasonal farmworkers complete high school and succeed in postsecondary education. Eligible applicants for these programs are Institutions of Higher Education (IHEs), or private, non-profit agencies working in cooperation with IHEs. The programs are located at IHEs to give migrant students exposure to cultural events, academic programs and other educational activities usually not available to migrant and seasonal farmworker youth.

The HEP programs help students to complete the requirements for a general education diploma (GED), and to enter postsecondary education or other training programs, or to be placed in career positions. The CAMP programs provide outreach, recruitment, academic, supportive, and financial assistance to migrant and seasonal farmworkers to help them successfully complete the first academic year of college and to continue in postsecondary education.

In 1999 the Department funded 23 HEP projects and 12 CAMP projects for a five-year grant cycle. Twenty-nine projects are located at four-year IHEs, three projects are located at Community Colleges, and three projects are funded through non-profit organizations.

Successful HEP and CAMP applicants will be funded for a five-year grant cycle. Each applicant must provide program activity and budget information for five years. Instructions for applying for grants and the selection criteria for awarding grants are included in the application package. No prior performance points will be awarded during this competition.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20202-6135

January 11, 2000

Dear Colleague:

The Secretary invites applications for funding for fiscal year 2000 under the High School Equivalency Program (HEP) and the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP). These programs are authorized under Title IV, Section 418A of the Higher Education Act, as amended. This package contains the forms and instructions necessary for preparing an application for either HEP or CAMP. Also included is a copy of the "Notice Inviting Applications for New Awards", a reprint of program regulations, and a copy of the HEP and CAMP legislative authority.

The time needed to complete this application is estimated to average 24 hours per response. This includes the time necessary for reviewing instructions, gathering data, and completing the information requested in the application.

Please review the entire application package carefully before preparing and submitting your application. In particular, please note the following:

1. As part of the Administration's Reinventing Government Initiative, the Department requires that all applicants for multi-year awards provide detailed budget information for the total grant period requested: this eliminates the need for extensive non-competing continuation applications in the remaining project years. An annual performance report will be used in place of the continuation application to determine progress.
2. The application contains the selection criteria that will be used to award grants from Section 75.210 of EDGAR. We ask that you follow the selection criteria as printed when designing your application. Please note that the selection criteria for prior experience does not apply to this competition.
3. To expedite the reading process, we ask that you limit the program narrative to 50 double spaced pages and the appendices to 15 pages. We suggest that you follow the format in the instructions for Part III in preparing your application.
4. While you are required to submit a signed original and two copies of your application, your voluntary submission of a signed original and three copies will expedite the review process.

5. Grantees who wish to apply for both a HEP and CAMP project must submit a separate application for each project with the identifying CFDA number on the application. (CFDA 141A-HEP and CFDA 149A-CAMP.)

The application must be postmarked or hand delivered on or before the deadline date. Detailed mailing instructions are provided in the Application Transmittal Instructions. Applications submitted late will not be accepted. No changes or additions to the application will be accepted after the deadline date.

For additional information please contact: Mary L. Suazo, Office of Migrant Education, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, FOB-6, Rm. 3E227, Washington, D.C. 20202-6135; telephone (202) 260-1396; or e-mail at mary_suazo@ed.gov.

NOTICE TO ALL APPLICANTS (GEPA)

Thank you for your interest in this program. The purpose of this enclosure is to inform you about a new provision in the Department of Education's General Education Provisions Act (GEPA) that applies to applicants for new grant awards under Department programs. This provision is section 427 of GEPA, enacted as part of the Improving America's Schools Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103-382).

To Whom Does This Provision Apply?

Section 427 of GEPA affects applicants for new discretionary grant awards under this program. ALL APPLICANTS FOR NEW AWARDS MUST INCLUDE INFORMATION IN THEIR APPLICATIONS TO ADDRESS THIS NEW PROVISION IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FUNDING UNDER THIS PROGRAM.

What Does This Provision Require?

Section 427 requires each applicant for funds (other than an individual person) to include in its application a description of the steps the applicant proposes to take to ensure equitable access to, and participation in, its federally assisted program for students, teachers, and other program beneficiaries with special needs.

This section allows applicants discretion in developing the required description. The statute highlights six types of barriers that can impede equitable access or participation that you may address: gender, race, national origin, color, disability, or age. Based on local circumstances, you can determine whether these or other barriers may prevent your students, teachers, etc. from equitable access or participation. Your description need not be lengthy; you may provide a clear and succinct description of how you plan to address those barriers that are applicable to your circumstances. In addition, the information may be provided in a single narrative, or, if appropriate, may be discussed in connection with related topics in the application.

Section 427 is not intended to duplicate the requirements of civil rights statutes, but rather to ensure that, in designing their projects, applicants for Federal funds address equity concerns that may affect the ability of certain potential beneficiaries to fully participate in the project and to achieve to high standards. Consistent with program requirements and its approved application, an applicant may use the Federal funds awarded to it to eliminate barriers it identifies.

What are Examples of How an Applicant Might Satisfy the Requirement of This Provision?

The following examples may help illustrate how an applicant may comply with section 427.

(1) An applicant that proposes to carry out an adult literacy project serving, among others, adults with limited English proficiency, might describe in its application how it intends to distribute a brochure about the proposed project to such potential participants in their native language.

(2) An applicant that proposes to develop instructional materials for classroom use might describe how it will make the materials available on audiotape or in Braille for students who are blind.

An applicant that proposes to carry out a model science program for secondary students and is concerned that girls may be less likely than boys to enroll in the course, might indicate how it intends to conduct "outreach" efforts to girls, to encourage their enrollment.

We recognize that many applicants may already be implementing effective steps to ensure equity of access and participation in their grant programs, and we appreciate your cooperation in responding to the requirements of this provision.

The Government Performance and Result Act (GPRA)

What is GPRA?

The Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA) is a straightforward statute that requires all federal agencies to manage their activities with attention to the consequences of those activities. Each agency is to clearly state what it intends to accomplish, identify the resources required, and periodically report their progress to the Congress. In so doing, it is expected that the GPRA will contribute to improvements in accountability for the expenditures of public funds, improve Congressional decision making through more objective information on the effectiveness of federal programs, and promote a new government focus on results, service delivery, and customer satisfaction.

How has the Department of Education responded to the GPRA requirements?

As required by GPRA, the Department of Education has prepared a strategic plan for 1998-2002. This plan reflects the Department's priorities and integrates them with its mission and program authorities and describes how the Department will work to improve education for all children and adults in the U.S. The Department's goals, as listed in the plan, are:

- Goal 1: Help all students reach challenging academic standards so that they are prepared for responsible citizenship; further learning, and productive employment.*
- Goal 2: Build a solid foundation for learning for all children.*
- Goal 3: Ensure access to postsecondary education and lifelong learning.*
- Goal 4: Make the Department of Education a high performance organization by focusing on results, service quality, and customer satisfaction.*

The performance indicators for the High School Equivalency Program (HEP) and the College Assistance Program (CAMP) are part of the Department's plan for meeting Goals 1 and 3. Among the Department's objectives for Goal 3 is that "secondary school students get the information and support they need to prepare successfully for postsecondary education."

What are the performance indicators for the HEP/CAMP Program?

The Department's specific goal for the HEP programs is to assist migrant and seasonal farmworker students obtain the equivalent of a high school diploma and to enroll in postsecondary education or other training programs, or to be placed in career positions or the military. The specific goal for the CAMP program is to assist migrant and seasonal farmworkers students to successfully complete their first year of college and to continue in postsecondary education.

The specific performance indicators for the HEP program are as follows:

- (1) An increasing percentage of HEP participants will complete the program and receive their GED;
- (2) An increasing percentage of HEP participants who receive a GED will enter postsecondary education or other training programs; and
- (3) An increasing percentage of HEP participants who receive a GED will be placed in career positions or enter the military service.

The specific performance indicators for the CAMP program are:

- (1) All CAMP students will complete their first academic year at a postsecondary institution in good standing.
- (2) CAMP students will graduate from 4-year colleges or universities at higher rates.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The Secretary uses the following selection criteria from EDGAR, 34 CFR Part 75, Sections 75.209 and 75.210 to evaluate applications for grants under this competition:
